

Lower Dolpo Trek

Trip Overview

The Lower Dolpa region lies on the western hills of Karnali Pradesh in Nepal. Dolpa is the largest district in the country, covering an area of 7889 sq. km.

The Lower Dolpo Trek is one of the most exciting but less-known trek routes in Nepal. The trekking routes were opened for foreigners in 1982. This trek lies in the Shey Phoksundo National Park, which is named after the Shey Monastery and Phoksundo Lake that reside in this area.

Lower Dolpo Trek presents a series of mighty mountains along with the sight of the deepest lake in Nepal, Phoksundo Lake. This lake is situated at an altitude of 3612 meters. Moreover, Lower Dolpo Trek consists of Shey Phoksundo National Park, which is the largest trans-Himalayan national park built in 1984.

This adventurous trek will allow you to experience the off-beaten paths of Nepal along with the perfect composition of cultural and natural gifts. Admiring the beautiful rain shadow landscape of the Himalayas along the meadows, brown lands, snow-capped mountains, hidden valleys, and terraced fields, you will enter the captivating Shey Phoksundo National Park and Phoksundo Lake.

You will further pass through two high passes in Nepal, including the Baga La Pass and the Numa La Pass, both residing over an altitude of 5000 meters. These passes offer stunning panoramas of Mt. Dhaulagiri and the Tibetan ranges of Kungung La and Khyung La. The turquoise Phoksundo Lake, with its mesmerizing beauty, will add fragrance to the journey. Exploring the culture of Buddhist and Tibetan people along with the Magar settlements that practice the Buddhist Bon Po religion is another major experience you will have during the Lower Dolpo Trek.

The best time to visit the Lower Dolpo region is during the spring (March to May) and autumn (September to November), when the skies are clear and the weather is mild.

Pure Adventure Nepal offers the finest packages as per your preference for the Lower Dolpo Region. This region lacks lavish facilities and accommodation; thus, if you are willing to endure without it and relish the natural aroma, the Lower Dolpo Trek is the perfect voyage designed for you.
