

Mardi Himal Trek

Trip Overview

Mardi Himal is 5,587 meters high and located about 25 kilometers north of Pokhara. It resides in the Annapurna Conservation Area of Nepal and offers some of the most stunning views of mountains, including the Annapurna Range, Machhapuchhre, Annapurna South, and Annapurna I.

Encircled by the gigantic Annapurna massifs, Mardi Himal is popularly recognized as Mt. Fishtail. This Mardi Himal Trek starts in the village of Dhampus. From Pritam Deurali, the trail reaches the tower of Mardi Himal Base. Filled with natural enrichment, the mountain is one of the stunning landscapes that awe-struck its seekers.

Nestled in the wilderness, with rivers, lush green forests, towering peaks, and thousands of natural peaks, Mardi Himal Trek offers everything for adventure seekers. The trail is followed by a series of rhododendron forests along with the subtropical forests including bamboo, oak, and fir.

The early sunrise view from Mardi Himal Base Camp is what people die for. You can alternatively trek to the Upper Viewpoint of Mardi Himal, which is popular for its picturesque view of the western face. From the bustling city of Pokhara, your trek stretches from Kande and moves towards Deurali.

The Mardi Himal Trek is one of the short-duration treks that will present you with various mesmerizing views. This trek offers a harmonious blend of stunning landscapes and the diverse beauty of Nepal.
